ARQR360

True-to-size AR for every product page.

We turn product photos into AR views shoppers can place live in their own room, at exact real size.

ARQR360

THE PROBLEM

Shoppers can't judge true size from flat photos.

So they hesitate, buy less, and send more back. Every online store selling furniture, rugs, decor or footwear pays for this uncertainty.

94%

higher conversion for products with 3D or AR content versus listings without it

ARQR360

THE SOLUTION

One QR code. True-to-size AR. No website changes.

1 Exact real size

The shopper sees the product live in their own room.

2 Zero integration

No programming, no changes to the retailer's site.

3 Works on any phone

A QR code on the product page opens the AR view.

ARQR360

HOW IT WORKS

The retailer sends photos. We deliver the AR view.

01

You send photos

The retailer sends product photos and official dimensions. Nothing else needed.

02

We build the AR view

We create the asset, enforce true size, and check the output.

03

Shoppers scan and see

One QR code per product. Shoppers place it live in their own room.

ARQR360

THE MARKET

AR is becoming the default step of online shopping.

$64.4B

Projected AR-in-retail market by 2030, growing 21.6% a year (Global Industry Analysts)

1B+

People already use AR every day across Snapchat, Instagram and TikTok

94%

Higher conversion for products with 3D or AR content (Shopify)

72%

Of consumers prefer brands that offer virtual try-ons

> Why now: the phones are already in shoppers' hands and the market is compounding past $60B, yet independent retailers still have no affordable way in. That gap is exactly where ARQR360 plays.
